REAL RISK OF SIGNIFICANT HARM ANALYSIS

You can also review the enclosed Steps You Can Take to Protect Against Identity Theft and Fraud which includes guidance on steps you can take to better protect against the possibility of fraud and identity theft.” In my view, the financial information at issue (payment card numbers, security codes) could be used to cause the significant harms of fraud, identity theft and financial loss.
Real Risk The likelihood that the significant harm will result must be more than mere speculation or conjecture. Further, the information may have been exposed for approximately four months.
DECISION UNDER SECTION 37.1(1) OF PIPA
Based on the information provided by the Organization and given the circumstances of the incident, I have decided that there is a real risk of significant harm to the affected individuals.

The financial information at issue (payment card numbers, security codes) could be used to cause the significant harms of fraud, identity theft and financial loss. The likelihood of harm resulting from this incident is increased because the personal information was compromised due to the malicious action of an unknown third party (deliberate intrusion and installation of malware). Further, the information may have been exposed for approximately four months.

I require the Organization to notify the affected individuals in Alberta in accordance with section 19.1 of the Personal Information Protection Act Regulation (Regulation).

I understand the Organization notified affected individuals in letter October 6, 2017 in accordance with the Regulation. The Organization is not required to notify the affected individuals again.
