REAL RISK OF SIGNIFICANT HARM ANALYSIS
Harm Some damage or detriment or injury that could be caused to affected individuals as a result of the incident. The harm must also be “significant.” It must be important, meaningful, and with non-trivial consequences or effects.	The Organization reported the information could be used as follows: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Performance information could be used to cause harm, humiliation or embarrassment [sic] - Any personal issues, such as medical appointment dates or medications, could be used to cause harm, humiliation or embarrassment [sic] I agree with the Organization. The contact, employment and medical information could be used to cause the significant harms of hurt, humiliation and/or embarrassment.
Real Risk The likelihood that the significant harm will result must be more than mere speculation or conjecture. There must be a cause and effect relationship between the incident and the possible harm.	The Organization reported that “There is the possibility, but no guarantee, that harm will result. If the notebook was taken by the suspected [sic] individual, we are not aware of any specific adversarial relationships between the individual [sic] and persons referenced in the notebook that would lead to an increased likelihood that the notebook would be used to cause harm.” In my view, the likelihood of harm resulting from this incident is increased because the cause of the breach is either unknown, or is the result of deliberate action. If the latter, there may well be personal or professional relationships between the affected individuals and the unknown party, making hurt, humiliation and embarrassment more likely. The notebook has not been recovered.
DECISION UNDER SECTION 37.1(1) OF PIPA
Based on the information provided by the Organization and given the circumstances of the incident, I have decided that there is a real risk of significant harm to the affected individuals.

The contact, employment and medical information could be used to cause the significant harms of hurt, humiliation and/or embarrassment. In my view, the likelihood of harm resulting from this incident is increased because the cause of the breach is either unknown, or is the result of deliberate action. If the latter, there may well be personal or professional relationships between the affected individuals and the unknown party, making hurt, humiliation and embarrassment more likely. The notebook has not been recovered.

I require the Organization to notify the affected individuals in Alberta in accordance with section 19.1 of the Personal Information Protection Act Regulation (Regulation).

I understand the Organization notified affected individuals by way of a hand-delivered note or by mail on November 2, 2018 in accordance with the Regulation. The Organization is not required to notify the affected individuals again.
