To the extent this information was collected in Alberta, PIPA applies.

REAL RISK OF SIGNIFICANT HARM ANALYSIS
Harm Some damage or detriment or injury that could be caused to affected individuals as a result of the incident. The harm must also be “significant.” It must be important, meaningful, and with non-trivial consequences or effects.	The Organization reported the possible harms that may occur as a result of the breach are “Fraud, identity theft, financial loss, and stress.” I agree with the Organization’s assessment. A reasonable person would consider the identity information at issue could be used to cause the harms of fraud, identity theft, and financial loss in particular. These are significant harms.
Real Risk The likelihood that the significant harm will result must be more than mere speculation or conjecture. There must be a cause and effect relationship between the incident and the possible harm.	With respect to the likelihood of harm resulting from this incident, the Organization reported, It already happened, though every amount was reimbursed. The risk of future harm will be assessed with the investigation although the possibility of on line transaction is thoroughly monitored in other groups and blocked for affected individuals. In my view, the likelihood of harm resulting from this incident is increased because the personal information was compromised due to the malicious action of an employee (deliberate intrusion) and the information was exposed for over one (1) month. The Organization reported that harm has already occurred.
DECISION UNDER SECTION 37.1(1) OF PIPA
Based on the information provided by the Organization and given the circumstances of the incident, I have decided that there is a real risk of significant harm resulting from this incident. A reasonable person would consider the identity information at issue could be used to cause the harms of fraud, identity theft, and financial loss in particular. These are significant harms. The likelihood of harm resulting from this incident is increased because the personal information was compromised due to the malicious action of an employee (deliberate intrusion) and the information was exposed for over one (1) month. The Organization reported that harm has already occurred.

I require the Organization to notify the affected individual whose personal information was collected in Alberta, in accordance with section 19.1 of the Personal Information Protection Act Regulation (Regulation).

I understand the Organization notified the affected individual by letter on January 7, 2020 in accordance with the Regulation. The Organization is not required to notify the affected individual again.
